Scenario	Description	Examples	Commonwealth law infringed/issues
7	Anonymous electoral communication (other than a paid advertisement) without authorisation	Anonymous communication promoting informal voting	Depends on who is communicating the matter as to whether the communication must be authorised under the Commonwealth Electoral Act 1918. An electoral communication must be authorised if it is for, or on behalf of, a disclosure entity (i.e. a candidate, political party or other person or group that is required to report electoral expenditure or donations to the Electoral Commission under Part XX of the Electoral Act).
8	Electoral communication (including a paid electoral ad) that is defamatory	Third party authorises a paid advertisement that defames a candidate so as to affect public perception of the integrity of the candidate, party, election or political system.	Affected individual or organisation can take legal action, however, issue may be to stop the spread of disinformation during an election campaign.
9	Electoral communication (including a paid electoral ad) brings a Commonwealth agency into disrepute	Third party authorises a paid advertisement that defames a Commonwealth agency or representative so as to affect public perception of the integrity of the electoral system.	Affected individual or agency can take legal action, however, issue may be to stop the spread of disinformation during an election campaign.
