Hi Twitter,

This content was reported for breaching Twitter's Civic Integrity Policy. Specifically, the post breaches the third category of the policy regarding misleading claims about established procedures and the actions of officials or entities executing those civic processes.

The claim that ballot boxes are already filled with a predetermined result is a demonstrably false piece of electoral disinformation which serves to undermine the integrity of the process and the result.

Additionally, the post encourages users to not participate in the vote, despite it being compulsory to do so under Australian referendum laws.

Swift removal of this item would be greatly appreciated.

Kind regards,

[REDACTED]
Australian Electoral Commission

T: [REDACTED]
