3. Removal of deceased electors

- The AEC employs a robust process to remove deceased electors from the roll and prevent deceased persons from being added to the electoral roll.
- The AEC manages the removal of deceased electors from the roll by collecting and analysing information from a variety of sources, including advice from the elector's family and data from state registrars (Births, Deaths and Marriages), and other electoral authorities.
- In the 12 months ending 30 September 2023, the AEC removed 156,000 deceased persons from the electoral roll.
