Good morning s47F,

Thanks for getting back to us. I will send a calendar invite with Teams link shortly.

In terms of agenda for the meeting, we have met with s47F (and others at Google) before, but I propose we give an abbreviated version of what our role is (as well as the role of the Electoral Integrity Assurance Taskforce) and an environmental update before handing over to you. Let me know if this suits or you would prefer otherwise.

Looking forward to meeting you online next week!

Hi s47F,

No worries at all, we understand how busy you and the team have been. Grateful for your help in coordinating the relevant team members and their availabilities.

Are there any time zone considerations that we need to take into account? Unfortunately, not much availability in the last week of July, but we have 9-10am AEST as a possibility on either the 23rd or 24th of July.

Let me know if either of those dates would work for you, as well as any team members you'd like to attend, and we can get a Teams calendar invite sent out to you.

Hi s47F,

I hope you and the team are well.

My sincere apologies for the delay in responding to you. We would welcome the opportunity to continue to work closely and positively with the AEC in relation to election integrity.

Do you have availability towards the end of July?

We will pull together team members who are able to respond to these matters and prepare appropriate briefing materials. If you have anything else you would like us to cover please let me know.

Look forward to working with you.

Hi s47F,

I hope you've been well. The Australian Electoral Commission has appreciated the productive engagement we've had with Google in the past, and while the date for the next Australian federal election is yet to be determined by the government, we are keeping a close eye on developments in this 'year of elections' around the world, particularly advancements in generative AI technology.

With that in mind, we are very interested in meeting with representatives from Google's AI team to learn more about the following:

- Any observations and lessons learned from recent elections around the globe and how these experiences are shaping your work on generative AI;
- How Google is responding to electoral integrity risks when it comes to generative AI products like Gemini, with a particular focus on how we can ensure the Australian public has access to timely and accurate information about the electoral process;
- A brief overview of SynthID including how it identifies AI-generated content;
- Discussing pathways for the Electoral Integrity Assurance Taskforce (EIAT) and the AEC to flag potential issues with you in relation to Australian federal electoral events and AI products like Gemini, and whether this would differ from our existing pathway.

Any assistance you can provide in directing us to the relevant teams to meet with would be much appreciated.

Good morning / afternoon EIAT Taskforce members and Google / YouTube representatives, s47F

In preparation for the next federal election, the Electoral Integrity Assurance Taskforce \(EIAT\) are arranging meetings with each of the online platforms. Meetings will be led by the Defending Democracy Unit (DDU, AEC) and representatives from the EIAT taskforce agencies are welcome to attend. The EIAT Secretariat would like to thank Google / YouTube representatives, s47F, for confirming their availability for this selected timeslot.

Although an agenda has not been finalised, the following can provide a guide.

- Potential timing of FE25, if not already announced
- AEC's role in the current information environment – education campaigns, activity on social media
- AEC's observations from global elections in 2024 and what that may mean for Australia
- Google / YouTube update
  - Any changes in policy settings
  - Confirmation of referral and escalation pathways
- Google / YouTube's own observations from elections globally in 2024 including:
  - Any changes in the online environment, including the use of generative AI

EIAT Taskforce agencies are welcome to request further agenda items they would like raised at this meeting for the EIAT Secretariat to consider and can do so by contacting the Secretariat via email or phone call.

Please do not hesitate to get in touch for any further clarification. We look forward to meeting with you soon.

Hi s47F

Thanks for your help in finding a time for this meeting. As a guide, we are seeking to cover the following:

1. The AEC will provide an update on Australia's electoral integrity environment and the work of the Electoral Integrity Assurance Taskforce (EIAT)
2. An update from Google and YouTube about observations and lessons learned from recent elections around the globe and how these experiences are shaping your work (especially as the US election draws nearer)
3. Discussion about how Google and YouTube are responding to electoral integrity risks, with a particular focus on how we can prevent the harassment and intimidation of electoral workers- particularly where this is posted online
4. Discussion of the FE24/25 version of the Online Platform Scenarios, which, although similar to the Referendum scenarios, has had some updates
5. Any other updates Google/YouTube would like to cover, e.g. developments in genAI

Please let me know if you would like to discuss or clarify any of this prior to the meeting- I'd be very happy to do so.

Cheers,

Hi s47F,

Thanks so much for sharing this! Our strong preference would be for videos that fit the YT format - so either longform or Shorts but ideally not square - as well as content made specifically for the upcoming election in 2025.

Will check in with you closer to the date to finalise the list.

Thanks again!

Hi AEC team,

Hope you're all well and having a great week. Just wanted to follow up on feedback/approvals for our Elections promotions that we spoke about on Tuesday across our Google/YouTube platforms.

On the YouTube side, we're hoping to feed back to our creative agency as soon as possible in order to keep to some internal timelines, so just checking in to see if there's any additional feedback you have?

Please see the approvals slide here on which you can note your approvals and any further feedback.

Good morning s47F,

Bringing to your attention a video with 75k+ views that our Social Media Team reported yesterday:

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xcrxUCoiPIU>

From 5:18 it claims that there will be digital ID requirements for FE25, which is incorrect. Our team referred this under 'misinformation' as follows:

The video's claim that "digital identity verification for voting" has been introduced for the 2025 federal election is false. ID is not required when voting in Australian federal elections, and there have been no recent changes in this area.

The erroneous claim presents the following risks:

- Disenfranchising Australian voters who view the video and believe they won't be able to vote due to not having a digital ID. (Or that they may not be able to vote if they haven't linked a digital ID to their enrolment).
- Damaging the perceived integrity of Australian federal elections due to the implication voter privacy may be compromised.

As of this morning it's still up/unlabelled/unmoderated but it was only referred yesterday afternoon.

The election hasn't been called yet, but the social media team are already feeling it!

Also, thanks for the link you shared after our meeting earlier this week. That page is helpful – I think we believed it was more complicated than it was.

Jeff Pope APM
Acting Electoral Commissioner
Australian Electoral Commission

Canberra ACT 2600

Dear Acting Commissioner

Thank you for your letter of December 17, 2024 regarding Google's commitment to the Tech Accord to Combat Deceptive Use of AI in 2024 Elections and its relevance to Australia's upcoming federal election. We appreciate the Australian Electoral Commission's (AEC) ongoing collaboration with online platforms and share your commitment to maintaining public trust in Australia's democratic processes. Google recognises the potential risks AI poses to electoral integrity and welcomes the opportunity to provide an update on our efforts to address these challenges.

Google has long been dedicated to supporting democratic processes by:

- Surfacing high-quality information to voters
- Safeguarding our platforms from abuse, and
- Equipping campaigns with best-in-class security tools and training.

These three pillars are fundamental to maintaining public trust in elections and include our platforms and services providing the following:

- Google promotes information on how to vote on Google Search's landing page to increase voter awareness and democratic participation.
- YouTube prominently surfaces content from authoritative sources on the homepage, in search results, and the "Up Next" panel for election news and information.
- Google monitors and tackles coordinated influence operations through the Google Threat Intelligence group, which includes intelligence and threat response across Google's Threat Analysis Group, Cloud Security and Mandiant teams.
- For over a decade, Google has leveraged machine learning classifiers and AI to identify and remove content that violates policies regarding manipulated media, hate and harassment, incitement to violence, and demonstrably false claims that could undermine democratic processes.
- Google offers free security services like the Advanced Protection Program and Project Shield to high-risk users such as campaigners and journalists to ensure they have additional account security protections in place.

Addressing AI-Related Misinformation

We understand the AEC's concerns regarding the use of AI to spread election-related misinformation and disinformation, including deepfakes and coordinated inauthentic behaviour. Google has implemented several measures to mitigate these risks across our products and services:

- AI and Generative AI policies: Google has policies that address misinformation and disinformation in the context of AI. For example, YouTube's misinformation policies prohibit technically manipulated content that misleads users and could pose a serious risk of egregious harm.

- Ads disclosures: Google requires advertisers to disclose when their election ads include synthetic content that inauthentically depicts real or realistic-looking people or events. This policy applies to image, video, and audio content. Google's ads policies already prohibit the use of manipulated media to mislead people, such as deep fakes or doctored content.
- Content labels on YouTube: YouTube requires creators to disclose when they've created realistic altered or synthetic content and displays a label indicating that the content is synthetic. For election-related content, YouTube displays a prominent label on the video player for added transparency.
- Responsible approach to Generative AI products: Google has prioritised testing across safety risks, including misinformation, for Generative AI products like Gemini. Google has restricted the types of election-related queries for which Gemini will return responses.
- Watermarking: Google attaches invisible watermarks to imagery generated by Google's models using SynthID, a watermarking technology developed by Google DeepMind.
- Providing users with additional context: "About this image" in Search helps people assess the credibility and context of images found online. The double-check feature in Gemini enables people to evaluate whether there's content across the web to substantiate a Gemini response.

Progress Against the Tech Accord Commitments

Google was among the original signatories of the Tech Accord to Combat Deceptive Use of AI in 2024 Elections. In line with our commitments, we have taken steps across our products to reduce the risks that deceptive AI election content may pose to the integrity of electoral processes. These steps include:

- Developing Model Cards to promote transparency and a shared understanding of AI models
- Addressing harmful content through Google's AI Prohibited Use Policy
- Proactively testing systems using AI-Assisted Red Teaming
- Restricting responses for election-related queries across many Generative AI consumer apps and experiences
- Expanding the SynthID watermarking toolkit to more Generative AI tools and more forms of media
- Requiring election advertisers to prominently disclose when their ads include realistic synthetic content
- Adding Google-generated disclosures for some YouTube Election Ads formats, and
- Actively exploring ways to incorporate Content Credentials into our own products and services, including Ads, Search, and YouTube, as a Steering Committee member of the C2PA Coalition and Standard.

Collaboration and Transparency

Google is committed to transparency and collaboration with industry, government, and civil society. We actively share our learnings and expertise with researchers and others in the industry. We engage and collaborate with organisations such as the Partnership on AI, ML Commons, and the Frontier Model Forum. We also support the Global Fact Check Fund and numerous civil society, research, and media literacy efforts.

Looking Ahead

Google's efforts around elections are not limited to a specific timeframe or region. We will continue to support and protect elections around the world and in Australia by:

- Surfacing high-quality information to voters
- Safeguarding our platforms from abuse
- Equipping campaigns with best-in-class security tools and training
- Applying new learnings to improve our protections for harmful content and create trustworthy experiences
- Leveraging machine learning classifiers and AI to identify and remove content that violates our policies, and
- Taking a principled and responsible approach to introducing generative AI products.

We are dedicated to working with the AEC to address the challenges posed by AI and uphold the Australian public's trust in democratic processes and institutions. We value our ongoing relationship and have welcomed the frequent and ongoing engagement with members of the AEC from the Defending Democracy Unit and beyond. We will continue to work closely with the AEC to ensure these efforts are understood and that appropriate pathways for escalation and engagement are in place ahead of the upcoming Federal Election.

We look forward to continuing our collaboration.

Sincerely,

Thank you so much for following up on your email and our apologies for the delayed response in getting back to you. You're spot on in that the decks have been very full over the last few weeks with the legislative and reform agenda.

Subject: Action items from October meeting, including proposed dates for December meeting

Good afternoon s47F,

I hope this email finds you both well and you're both on track for a relaxing Christmas break. I thought it would be good to follow up on a few action items from our last meeting before December arrives, as follows.

Information session

- s47F - at our last meeting you kindly offered to set up an information quality session to outline how Google search worked, including an element on searches in Gemini. We would like to take you up on that offer.
  - Please let me know what time frames/notice you need to set this up and I would be happy to set up some meeting invites
  - If we work a couple of weeks in advance, most of our working level attendees will be free to attend

Gemini's incorrect answer about enrolling to vote

- s47F - on 23 October we flagged that Gemini was producing an incorrect answer to the question "Can I be enrolled to vote if I haven't completed and enrolment form?". It appears that Gemini now declines to respond this prompt, instead providing the scripted answer in relation to not being able to help with elections. I'm not sure if this is based on action you have taken in the background, if so, thanks and noted!
- For a gold star from us it would be great if Gemini provided a link to the AEC's website when Australian users submit queries about elections, although there is some nuance to this given we have state electoral management bodies to consider too. We also understand these things are not always as easy as they sound. Happy to discuss at our next meeting if this is something you think could be pursued.

Next meeting - December 2024

- At our last meeting on 23 October, it was agreed it would be useful to set up a post US election meeting before we all break for Christmas. Available times in December include:
  - Monday, 16 December 9.30am to 11.00am
  - Monday, 16 December 1pm to 2pm

- Tuesday, 17 December 1pm to 2pm
- Wednesday, 18 December 9.30am to 10.30am
- Wednesday, 18 December 1pm to 2pm
- Friday, 20 December 9.30am to 12pm
- Friday, 20 December 1pm to 2pm

No problem if this is not a good week in the lead up to Christmas, just give me a steer on a better week and I'll consult calendars accordingly.

- We will send out an agenda prior the next meeting but note the following from our last meeting.
  - s47F offered to brief on Google's approach to AI in elections after gaining insight from the US presidential election on 5 November
  - s47F offered to provide more information about how content provenance works on content uploaded to YouTube at next meeting
  - Google and YouTube to provide information and insights into Sovereign Citizen promotion of misinformation/disinformation respective platforms
  - Google and YouTube support for the next Australian federal election
  - AEC to share trends in the election information environment with Google and YouTube

Lastly, no doubt you are already aware of the Electoral Legislation Amendment \(Electoral Reform\) Bill 2024 currently being considered. In case you are not already aware, there is a proposed amendment to section 348 (Control of behaviour at polling booths etc.) of the Commonwealth Electoral Act 1918 that provides:

(1A) A person commits an offence if:

- (a) the person makes an audio or video recording in premises to which this section applies; and
- (b) the recording is made without the permission of the person in charge of the premises; and
- (c) the making of the recording constitutes a contravention of paragraph 348(1)(a); and
- (d) the person:
  - (i) publishes the whole or a part of the recording; or
  - (ii) causes to be published the whole or a part of the recording.

Penalty: 5 penalty units.

Essentially, it will be an offence to get your phone out and video or audio record in a polling place or counting centre and post it online without the permission of the officer in charge. Some of the content posted online that the AEC was concerned about during past events would be covered by this if/when it enacted. Flagging now ahead of our next meeting for discussion.

Apologies for the lengthy email. Please let me know if you would like to discuss or receive further information.

Hi s47F,

I hope you've been well. The Australian Electoral Commission has appreciated the productive engagement we've had with Google in the past, and while the date for the next Australian federal election is yet to be determined by the government, we are keeping a close eye on developments in this 'year of elections' around the world, particularly advancements in generative AI technology.

With that in mind, we are very interested in meeting with representatives from Google's AI team to learn more about the following:

- Any observations and lessons learned from recent elections around the globe and how these experiences are shaping your work on generative AI;
- How Google is responding to electoral integrity risks when it comes to generative AI products like Gemini, with a particular focus on how we can ensure the Australian public has access to timely and accurate information about the electoral process;
- A brief overview of SynthID including how it identifies AI-generated content;
- Discussing pathways for the Electoral Integrity Assurance Taskforce (EIAT) and the AEC to flag potential issues with you in relation to Australian federal electoral events and AI products like Gemini, and whether this would differ from our existing pathway.

Any assistance you can provide in directing us to the relevant teams to meet with would be much appreciated.

21th of February 2025, 1:00pm – 2:00pm AEDT

Although an agenda has not been finalised, the following can provide a guide.

- Potential timing of FE25, if not already announced
- AEC's role in the current information environment – education campaigns, activity on social media
- AEC's observations from global elections in 2024 and what that may mean for Australia
- Google / YouTube update
  - Any changes in policy settings
  - Confirmation of referral and escalation pathways
- Google / YouTube's own observations from elections globally in 2024 including:
  - Any changes in the online environment, including the use of generative AI

Please do not hesitate to get in touch for any further clarification. Good morning s47F and s47F

We hope this email finds you well!

As you would be aware, the AEC is preparing for the next federal election (FE24/25); while the date is yet to be determined by government, it could be called at any time with the latest date for it to be held being in May 2025. We would therefore like to arrange a meeting with you (and/or appropriate representatives as you see fit) in preparation.

Given you will likely be quite busy in the lead up to the US Presidential election on 5 November, we would like to propose a meeting this month.

At this meeting we would be interested in covering:

- an update from the AEC on Australia's electoral integrity environment
- an update from Google/YouTube about your observations and lessons learned from recent elections around the globe and how these experiences are shaping your work
- how Google/YouTube are responding to electoral integrity risks, with a particular focus on how we can ensure the Australian public has access to timely and accurate information about the electoral process
- confirming the options and/or escalation pathways for the EIAT and the AEC to flag potential issues with Google/YouTube in relation to Australian federal electoral events
- discuss the (FE24/25) version of the Online Platform Scenarios, which, although similar to the Referendum scenarios, has had some updates

Grateful if you could please advise which (if any) of the following dates would be suitable for a September meeting.

We would be aiming for a one-hour window within the following times.

Tuesday, 17 September 8am to 9.30am

Wednesday, 18 September 8am to 10am

Thursday, 19 September 8am to 9.30am

Friday, 20 September 8am to 9.30am

Very happy to discuss further if needed.

Kind regards

Hi s47F and s47F

I hope you are having a great start to your year!

Unfortunately, we have to reschedule our Electoral Integrity Assurance Taskforce (EIAT) meeting, currently scheduled for the 21st of February at 1:00pm – 2:00pm AEDT.

Are you both available to meet on 26th February at 1:00pm – 2:00pm AEDT instead?

Thank you for your understanding and assistance. Looking forward to meeting.
